Mission: Inspired by UConn’s commitment to developing active global citizens, the mission of Community Outreach (CO) is to engage students in meaningful service activities that enrich their learning and enhance the quality of life for others in our local, national and international communities.

One-Time Service Projects
One-time volunteer placements occur primarily during the weekends at organizations surrounding the UConn Storrs campus. These provide students the opportunity to better meet the needs of community partners who offer short term projects or require assistance with one time events. The more flexible schedule allows us to reach a different population of approximately 975 students. Special Olympics Husky Classic Invitational (right), Community Service Days, Spring Weekend, and Martin Luther King Jr. Day of Service are some of the service projects held this year totaling over 9,405 hours.

Semester-Long Programs
Students serve on a weekly basis in the areas of Health & Human Services, Language & Literacy, and Youth Development & Education for Children and Adolescents. This past year Big Brothers Big Sisters collaborated with the School of Pharmacy and Urban Service Track to put on a program aimed at increasing 5th grade students’ interest in medical careers. Our 1,281 semester long participants and student leaders are committed to the work they do and develop relationships with those they serve every week, along with completing over 44,245 hours at 66 different sites around the state.

Jumpstart AmeriCorps
This is a federally funded program that gives college students the opportunity to engage in meaningful service through building relationships with preschool-aged children while helping to prepare them for kindergarten.

Democracy and Political Engagement
CO offers a variety of events aimed at increasing awareness and involvement of UConn students in current social and political issues. DPE held 20 events engaging over 200 students in 1285 hours of service-related opportunities.

Alternative Breaks
Our weekend and weeklong trips provide groups of students with the opportunity to explore critical social issues, enhance individual growth, and prepare them for lifelong social action. Trips focus on topics such as poverty, hunger, gender and sexuality, healthcare, immigration, and more. Our 17 trips resulted in over 19,500 hours of service from the 568 students who participated. A highlight of this past year is the new focus for a spring break trip on human trafficking.

Leadership Development
Students take on leadership of the office for all service and operational functions. They design and implement activities that recruit, train, and supervise volunteers and work-study employees in order to meet client needs. The coordinator positions along with being a support for the Communities of Practice, comprise of the Executive Board, which works on projects that support all 107 student leaders and the office as a whole.

Educational Events & Trainings
A variety of educational events and trainings are offered to members of CO and the wider student population. Staff and student leaders attended 3 national conferences including the CT Campus Compact that over 50 UConn students attended. Additionally, we held 20 dialogues with students and community members on topics ranging from immigration reform to understanding the national & state campaigns to change the educational system.

Learning Community
Launched in Fall 2015, the Human Rights & Action Learning Community (HRALC) is becoming a hub of activism, academic achievement, and service. In partnership with the Human Rights Institute and First Year Programs; HRALC engages members through academic, experiential, and residential activities to better their understanding of social justice, and civic responsibility.

Philanthropy & Relief Efforts
Several resources are available for students seeking to raise funds for different causes and communities. We provide resources including staff support to ensure that fundraising activities are done in a way that upholds the policies of the University as well as the laws of Connecticut so that students have opportunities to support the organizations they work with in both direct and indirect ways.
